3.3.2.2. Explanation of Conditions

Yes -- The development is permitted without special noise insulation, subject to any following letter.

No -- The development is not permitted.

- A.- A marginal zone exists near the 30 NEF level where aircraft noise may begin to annoy some residents. It is recommended that developers be made aware of this fact and that they undertake to inform prospective tenants or purchasers of residential units.
- B.- The developer should be required to inform prospective tenants/buyers that aircraft noise may interfere with certain activities.
- C.- These facilities should not be located close to the 30 NEF contour unless the restrictions outlined in Note D are applied.
- D.- This land use shall not be permitted unless a detailed analysis of noise reduction is conducted and noise insulation features are considered by the architectural consultant.
- E.- When associated with a permitted land use, an office may be located in this zone provided that all relevant factors are considered and a detailed noise analysis is conducted to establish the noise reduction features required to provide an indoor environment suited to the specific office function.
- F.- Many of these uses would be acceptable in all NEF zones. However, consideration should be given to internally generated noise levels, and acceptable noise levels in the working area.
- G.- Undesirable if there is spectator involvement.
- H.- It is recommended that serious consideration be given to an analysis of peak noise levels and the effects of these levels on the specific land use under consideration.
- I.- The construction of covered enclosures should be undertaken if this use is to be newly introduced to the noise environment.
- J.- Research has shown that animals condition themselves to high noise levels. However, it is recommended that peak noise levels be assessed before this use is allowed.
